The 12th edition of the “Mural Festival” will showcase the work of 17 urban artists along the walls of Montréal, including Spanish artists Aryz and Escif.

ARYZ

Aryz is a Spanish street artist and illustrator. Born in 1988 in Palo Alto, California, he moved back to Spain at a young age and developed an interest in graffiti. He studied Fine Arts at the University of Barcelona and is known for his large-scale murals, which often depict humans or animals with surreal colors and muted colors.

He emerged as a graffiti artist in the early 2000s, marking abandoned spaces around Barcelona with his signature nickname. His distinctive characters and still lifes found acclaim in the industrial surroundings, propelling his fame globally. Despite leaving his Fine Arts studies incomplete at the University of Barcelona, Aryz received mural commissions from across the world, leaving his mark in countries like Morocco, Japan, and the United States. The book Outdoors (2018) catalogs his public space artwork from 2008 to 2018. Transitioning to studio work in 2019, Aryz presented Pugna, an exhibition exploring human movement and power dynamics, culminating in a show at Nancy’s Beaux-Arts Museum.

He has since developed large-format installations, blending muralism with studio painting, allowing for greater creative freedom. Currently based in Cardedeu, Aryz explores various printing techniques, collaborating with publishers like Polígrafa. His recent series, Vestigio, delves into fragmentation and movement inspired by baroque art.
